FOREWORD

THE appearance of another volume of THE GRIST indicates that once more a senior class is making its farewell message to the student body and faculty of Rhode Island State College. Within a few weeks this group will take leave of the Alma Mater which it has grown to love, and it will go out into the world buoyed by the pleasant memories of four years of college life.

Within the covers of the thirty-sixth volume of THE GRIST we have attempted to portray a cross-section of student life as it exists in Kingston. It is our earnest hope that this book remains with you always to serve as a reminder of the happy days of your youth.

CLASS ADVISER'S MESSAGE

TO THE CLASS OF 1936:

A DECADE ago, to graduate from college was to open a door and find the world bright and shining before one. Without drastic effort one sat in the lap of luxury and ease. Your four years have found you cognizant of a different system. Instead of an utter disregard for the state of affairs, the glory of the difficult has reinforced you so that instead of smiling with a shallow grin at that which lies before you, you stand ready to face a world that challenges your strength of heart and earnestness of purpose.

Has history ever been more notably in the making than during these last four years? Were college students ever afforded such opportunities to be so closely in touch with affairs of town, state, and nation? Were problems — economic, social and political — needing solution, ever so plainly laid before us? In the freshness and vigor of youth, that is unafraid and ready for the difficult, lies the rolling back of the clouds and the introduction of a new era in which the aim and goal is not the amassing of individual fortunes but the finding, through useful life to mankind, the gem of human happiness.

HISTORY OF RHODE ISLAND STATE COLLEGE

In 1889 the Board of Managers of the Rhode Island State Agriculture School and Experimental Station made the following recommendation to the General Assembly:

The Board are unanimously of the opinion that the hearty support of the state in organizing and equipping the Rhode Island Agricultural School will be appreciated by the citizens of the state, result in great good to the agricultural and mechanical industries of the state and thus to the benefit of all.

This hope, as expressed by Chas. O. Flagg, Chas. J. Greene, Melville Bull, C. A. Shippee, and Chandler H. Coggeshall, the original Board, was to wait twenty years for fulfillment, for although the State Agricultural School was founded by an act of the 1909, with the name changed to Rhode Island State College, and Howard Edwards as President, that the people of the state and legislature began to take a constructive, co-operative interest in the South County venture.

In 1889 the School had 26 regular and seven special students. The faculty numbered five, with provisions for six more as soon as they could be selected. The scope of the institution can be seen somewhat from the titles of the instructors:

John H. Washburn, Principal and Lecturer on Dairying
Charles O. Flagg, Professor of Agriculture
Homer J. Wheeler, Professor of Geology
L. F. Kinney, Professor of Horticulture and Botany
Samuel Cushman, Lecturer on Bee Keeping

A 3-year course was decided on as the most desirable, two years being deemed too short a time to gain the requisite credits, and four years too long a time for a boy to leave his farmer-father. According to the first catalog, board could be obtained for $3.00 a week and a room for $5.00 a year.

In 1893, with equipment consisting of two buildings (Taft Laboratory dates from 1890), the name of the school was changed to the Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. This was necessary in order that the funds created by the Morrill act of 1890 could be available.

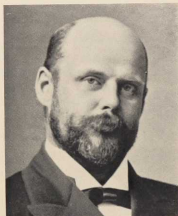

More money came in the next year, the year the first class graduated. The funds from the Morrill act of 1862, hitherto in the possession of Brown University, were now turned over to the College. Eighty-two students were now registered for regular classes. Fourteen of them were in the first graduating class, that of 1894.

During the next ten years two buildings were built, Davis Hall in 1895 to replace the dormitory which had burned, and Lippitt Hall in 1897. The public as a whole remained rather apathetic to the project, and only a small percentage of the low enrollment were graduates of Rhode Island High Schools.

A new president took charge in 1903, Kenyon Leech Butterfield. Early in 1906 he resigned, his achievements having been confined to an attempt to build up the Experiment Station and the College Extension Service.

The third president, the late Dr. Howard Edwards, took hold at a time when the apathy of the Rhode Island Public was rapidly turning to active hostility. Twenty years had found the College not a great deal more of an asset than at its foundation, and many people were asking that the whole project be forgotten. The entire student body numbered only 49, excluding 47 in the Preparatory School and 20 in the 12-week poultry course. For these students there were 11 professors and 10 instructors.

First President

JOHN H. WASHBURN
1892-1903

President Edwards, in his report from 1929, gives a picture of the College as he found it in 1906.

The visitor coming to the college from the village of Kingston passed through fields of rustling corn and waving timothy until he came to a row of three buildings, one of wood and two of stone, all facing west upon a narrow strip of green sward, with here and there a sapling shade-tree. In a line at right angles to this row of buildings and extending eastward were two one-story narrow wooden barracks and a three-story stone building some forty by one hundred feet in base. The Experiment Station occupied the stone building at the north corner; the central stone building served for dormitory, class-room and main office purposes; the wooden building at the south end held kitchen, dining-room, and employees' quarters; while the barracks and the stone building to the east served all other laboratory, class-room, military and athletic purposes besides containing the library. The ensemble was raw and unpromising—lacking in dignity and dependent for beauty entirely on the wonderful outlook toward the west. The total inventoried valuation was $250,000. The income for that year was $59,000, of which the salary budget was $28,000, the State appropriation for the year was $21,500.

Two factors were responsible for the rise of Rhode Island State College from this point on. One was the vision the new president had of what could be made of this South County hilltop. The other, which guided the President in his planning, was the report of a Commission of Inquiry, which the growing public antagonism had caused to set up. This was in 1908.

The most important recommendations made by the Commission were as follows:

1. That the name of the college be changed to Rhode Island State College.
2. That the college be required by law to maintain the standard set by the Carnegie Foundation.
3. That tuition be free to all students.
4. That the extension department be enlarged and strengthened.
5. That the experiment station be more closely affiliated with the college.
6. That the college maintain evening schools for industrial training in manufacturing centers, as far as its means allow.
7. That it offer to teachers summer courses in elementary agriculture and domestic arts.
8. That the instruction now given in military science and art be expanded and organized as a collegiate department for efficient military training of high rank.
9. That the college be recognized as an integral part of the state educational system and that action be taken to bring it into closer relation with the high schools of the state.
10. That the following buildings be erected as soon as means are available: (1) science; (2) library; (3) auditorium; (4) gymnasium and drill hall.
11. That more land be secured to meet the future agricultural needs of the college.

Dr. Edwards was President of the College for 24 years. During that time almost every one of these recommendations was followed out, many of them in a manner far exceeding the hopes of their sponsors.

The first change came in 1909, when the name of the College was changed to Rhode Island State College. From any point of view this was a welcome change, the old name being cumbersome, narrow in scope, and unappealing to the public.

Although no law was ever enacted to force the College to maintain the Carnegie standard, of its own volition the College has always fulfilled this condition, and is at present considerably above it.

One of the hardest recommendations to comply with was that pertaining to the experiment station. Officials and public alike had come to look upon the other branches of the College as subordinate to the experiment station, and many years were required to smooth out the jealousies and frictions which arose between the two groups. But Dr. Edwards lived to see both the Experiment Station and the Extension Service acting as highly important and useful branches of the College, and the whole organization co-operating in a smooth and harmonious manner.

The College never did attempt to put evening schools into operation, because of the high expense; they did attempt a summer school in the early days, which failed, says Dr. Edwards, because of the poor condition of the roads.

All the other recommendations of the commission were carried out enthusiastically and efficiently. The Military Department was expanded and organized to the point where the last years of Dr. Edwards' administration saw the College listed annually as a Distinguished College. A closer connection was sought and gained with the state educational system, and co-operation with the high schools reached the point where only a very small percentage of students were from out of state high schools. The recommended building program went slowly but steadily forward with the completion of East Hall in 1909, Ranger in 1913, and Bliss Hall, Edwards Hall, and the Gymnasium in 1928. The Quadrangle was lighted in 1922, adding greatly "to the sightliness, convenience, and comfort of us all," and in 1928 the Alumni presented the College with a Memorial Gateway. Thus the President was able to say in his 1929 report:

The College, with its fine shade-trees, its trim lawns, its impressive gateway, its nine stone buildings, efficient and dignified in line and form, its many sightly and attractive fraternity and sorority houses, has become a thing beautiful, not merely for situation and outlook over distant plains and hills toward the setting sun, but also in and for itself, and for its realization of the prophetic recommendations contained in the commission's report. Especially, on a spring or summer evening, the green sward of

Third President

HOWARD L. EDWARDS

Dr. Edwards was buried in Fernwood Cemetery "upon the close of a beautiful spring day."

The arrival of Dr. Raymond G. Bressler, April 1, 1931, as the fourth president of the College, was the start of another active and prosperous period.

The first four years of his administration have seen a jump in registration from 645 to 1,096 students and from 52 to 106 faculty members. New roads have been built, the dining halls reorganized, a fine summer school operated, a new grading system introduced, and a placement service organized since Dr. Bressler's arrival. Campus conditions in regard to heat and light have been improved, fields cleared for athletics, and a new fieldhouse and grandstand built.

The most pronounced symbol of outward change, however, is the PWA building program. When it became known that the federal government would aid the states in their public works projects, the President campaigned tirelessly to convince the people of the College's need for new buildings. His efforts were rewarded at election time by the approval of grants for the following projects:

Home Economics Building
Library and Administration Building
Women's Dormitory
Power Plant

Cafeteria
Dairy Barn
Remodelled Auditorium
Fire Protection

Thus the College is still growing — rapidly but soundly. Its place in the educational scheme of the state is assured; many more students apply every year for admission than the College can accommodate. Youthful enthusiasm and a growing dignity pervade the campus, and the South County hilltop which hundreds of years ago was pointed out as a beautiful spot for a university is today the setting of a beautiful and useful seat of learning.

the spacious campus, brilliantly illuminated by electric bulbs among the foliage of the trees; with glimpses on every side of massive shapes of stone broken by streams of light from a thousand windows, gives an effect of beauty and charm not unbecoming to an older seat of learning.

President Edwards died April 10, 1930. Acting President Barlow said of him: "The passing of this veteran leader removed from the field of education in our state one who had won for himself an exalted position by reason of his ripe scholarship, his fearless leadership, and singleminded devotion to the great task which was placed before him when he assumed charge of the college on July 1, 1909. . . . The college as we know it now is his accomplishment and his imperishable monument."

THE COLLEGE P. W. A. BUILDING PROGRAM

During the winter of 1933 and the spring of 1934, President Bressler worked tirelessly in the attempt to persuade the State Legislature to make an appropriation for much needed new buildings. Everyone was slightly disappointed when the lawmakers decided that the question would have to be decided by the voters of the State of Rhode Island in a special referendum.

The effect of this ruling on Dr. Bressler, however, was that he redoubled his efforts toward the approval of his "pet project." He made addresses in every part of the state making people of the state really conscious that there was a state college. The President drove home the fact that Rhode Island State College has an obligation to educate the youth of the state. Then the President demonstrated that the college could not fulfill this obligation due to our woeful need of better and larger physical equipment.

Dr. Bressler's enthusiasm was contagious. Every student and faculty member on the campus and every alumnus soon became a campaigner. The battle cry seemed to be "Let's get those buildings!"

Finally, the great day came. On Friday, May 18, 1934, President Bressler saw the voters of the state give their consent by a majority so overwhelming that even the fondest hopes of the bill's supporters were surpassed. In the metropolitan sections of the state, the college program was given a three to one majority, while in sections of South County, votes as high as six to one were piled up.

The direct benefits provided for by the program were a new home economics building, a new women's dormitory, a new library and administration building, a new dairy barn, a power plant, and remodelling of Edwards Hall, Lippitt Hall, and East Hall. The total amount granted, combining money given by the Federal government through its relief project and the money provided by the state through its bond issue, was $1,047,157.32.

Due to delays caused mainly by the rising price of materials and the subsequent adjustments in plans and specifications, it was 14 months before ground was broken for any building. On Friday, March 29, 1935, President Bressler started construction on the new Home Economics building with the customary ground-breaking ceremony.

HOME ECONOMICS BUILDING

In turning over the first shovelful of dirt in breaking ground for the new Home Economics building, President Bressler at the same time revived the hopes of many who, due to the long delay, despaired of ever seeing anything more than pictures of the new buildings. When we saw a steam shovel on the job, we were satisfied that construction had really begun.

Work seemed to progress slowly on the building. When the students left the campus last June, little more than the digging and laying of foundations had been accomplished. When we returned last September, however, the steel skeleton of the building was very near completion. The granite exterior then rose quite rapidly.

During the late fall and early winter, the exterior of the building seemed to grow overnight. The contractor wished to have the walls completed and a roof on the building before cold weather set in, in order that work might continue on the interior of the building through the entire winter. At this time, the outside of the building is complete and the interior needs little more than the finishing touches. The building will be used for classes for the first time next September.

This structure is the largest of all the college buildings. It has three floors and an attic which could later be converted into rooms if necessary. On the first floor there will be dramatic and psychological laboratories. This floor will also contain an unusually large lecture room with a moving picture booth and a small stage. The remaining space on this floor will be taken up by offices. The second and third floor will contain mostly home economics laboratories and class rooms.

NEW WOMEN'S DORMITORY

Construction of the new women's dormitory was begun during last summer. The amount allotted for this building was $180,000. This dormitory, the only building to be constructed of brick, is located opposite Davis Hall and next to Chi Omega.

At the present time, the building is very near completion. It is made up of a large central portion and two wings extending on either side. Thus, the plan allows for the construction of additional wings in the future.

The dormitory, designed by Albert Harkness, is different from any building on the campus both in its plan and in the warmth of the red brick walls. The building provides lounge and smoking rooms in addition to the regular dormitory rooms.

There is no doubt that the dormitory will be ready for the women to occupy next September.

NEW LIBRARY BUILDING

Last fall, on Monday, October 14, 1935, work was started on what promises to be the most beautiful building on the campus. This structure is the new $225,000 library and administration building. This building is to be constructed of granite to harmonize with the older buildings on the campus, and the shape will be that of a T.

The building will be located directly behind Ranger Hall, facing south. There will be entrances on each side of the building at the intersection of the base and at the top of the T. A new feature on the campus will be the graceful clock-tower surmounting the structure.

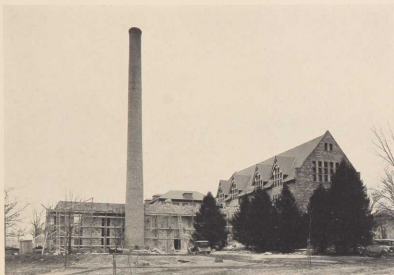

The basement will contain a large storage room, locker rooms, the post office, a book reception room, and the registrar's storage room. Part of the basement is to be left unexcavated as a reserve for future needs.

The main entrance to the building will open into a vestibule facing a large stairway. On each side of the vestibule will be large seminar rooms. In the left corridor will be the offices of the president, vice-president, the dean of women, and their secretaries. The corridor to the other end of the building will lead to the offices of the dean of freshmen, the alumni publicity director, and a large study hall at the end.

To the rear of the building, on the other side of the stairway, will be the two large working offices and the offices of the registrar and the bursar. At the extreme end will be located the new geology laboratory.

The second floor of the new building will contain the library. At the top the stairway will enter a large reading room flanked by a collateral reading room and a periodical room on each side. The librarian's office, the cataloguing room, and the bookstacks are to be located in the rear on the other side of the stairway.

Due to the winter weather, little more than the excavating and foundation work could be accomplished up until this spring. As soon as the weather permitted, however, construction of the steel framework and the granite walls was begun. Now the structure is beginning to take on a definite shape and should be ready for occupancy next fall.

LIPPITT HALL ADDITION

The fourth major project under the college's P. W. A. allotment, the renovating of Lippitt Hall and the addition to this building, was well under way by the first week of last October.

Plans call for the complete remodelling of the first floor which will utilize the entire floor space. There will be sets of collapsible doors which will allow the huge room to be partitioned off into smaller compartments for banquets. The floor covering will be a modern rubber tile.

In the addition to Lippitt Hall will be located the cafeteria counter and the kitchen. To the rear of this, a granite building will house the power plant in place of the old sheet metal covering. An additional boiler has been installed to provide adequate heat for the various new buildings.

The basement plans call for a complete rearrangement containing general storage rooms, women's and men's rest rooms, barber shop, and some offices. The foundry for the engineering classes will be transferred to the basement of the new wing in the rear of Lippitt. The gymnasium on the second floor will continue to be used by the Women's Athletic Department.

Construction on this project has progressed very rapidly since it was begun last fall. The granite structure for the power house has been completed, the new boiler has been installed, and work on the interior of Lippitt is almost finished.

NEW DAIRY BARN

At the beginning of May, 1935, work was begun on the second major project of the P. W. A. allotment, the new dairy barn. Almost $100,000 was appropriated for this structure, which, it is said, is one of the outstanding buildings of its kind in the country.

The size of the entire unit is about 180 by 200 feet. It is situated opposite the athletic field near the "Lone Oak," which marked the spot for the hammer throwing pit for many years.

It consists of a central building and three large sized barns which form a quadrangle to be used as an exercise yard for cattle. The central unit contains two stories and a basement. In them will be housed classrooms for the agricultural students and the apparatus necessary for testing milk and other dairy products. The building will also contain facilities for studying and working with farm animals. There will be animal laboratories, an animal hospital, etc.

Work seemed to progress much more rapidly on the dairy barn than on any of the other projects, possibly because the main structure of the barns is of wood rather than of heavy masonry. The exterior was completed late last fall. At the present time, the unit is practically complete with only a small amount of work remaining to be done on the interior.

COACH KEANEY'S RECORD AT RHODE ISLAND

Showing a fine record of 378 victories and 12 ties in 600 contests, up until the 1936 basketball season, in which Rhode Island teams were under his direction, Coach Keaney is deserving of high praise for the manner in which he brought athletics in this institution to the greatest heights in its history. His record would be more impressive except for the results of his first five-year period in which he laid the foundation for brighter days. Since 1925, when he was relieved of part of his heavy program with the arrival of Fred Tootell, his won and lost average is .717.

Ere many years pass, if one should judge by present trends, Keaney will have won 75% of his contests. This would be remarkable considering average materials, hard schedules, and the diversification of his activities.

1935 FOOTBALL SEASON

Assistant Coach Fred Tootell, Head Coach Frank W. Keaney, and Line Coach Bill Beck

SUMMARY OF 1935 FOOTBALL SEASON

FACING a strenuous schedule with a small and light squad the 1935 football team came through with the creditable record of four wins, four losses, and one tie. Outstanding among the victories of the season was the 13-7 win over Brown. This game was the twenty-fourth of the series with the upstate institution, and the final gun brought great joy to the sizable group of Rhode Island partisans. As Captain John Mantenuto was awarded the first Brown football ever won by Rhode Island, a group of enthusiastic admirers lifted Coach Keaney upon their shoulders and carried him the length of the field in a never-to-be-forgotten demonstration of cheering, snake-dances, and band-music.

In the first game Rhode Island showed defensive strength in holding the powerful Holy Cross team scoreless during the second and third periods, but went down 32-0. Four of the opponents' scores resulted from Rhode Island fumbles.

At Orono, Maine, Rhode Island lost a thrilling 7-0 game to Maine, whom we vanquished the two previous seasons. Bob Mudge's seventy-yard return of a punt for a touchdown was disallowed.

The Brown game followed. Here Rhody swept down the field following the kick-off to score and added another score in the second period. Brown scored on a group of lateral passes in the third period, but was held at bay the rest of the game.

At Northeastern the following week, the team was greatly outweighed but scored on a pass in the first half. Victory was apparent, only to have the Huskies score in the last eighteen seconds of the game. Final score 6-6.

Against Massachusetts State the team once more took the opening kick-off down the field for a touchdown. After the initial score, play was fairly even, only to have Rhode Island bog down for a short time, and the Baystaters advanced eighty yards in three downs during the third period, and kicked the point-after-touchdown. Final score—Rhode Island 6, Massachusetts State 7.

The Coast Guard Academy was subdued by a 13-7 score, and the following week Worcester Polytech was defeated 23-6. On Homecoming Day, Rhode Island gained possession for one year of the new trophy for the Connecticut series. As on two similar occasions, the team went for a touchdown in a few plays after the opening kick-off.

In the final game of the season, against Providence at the new Hendriken Field, the Rams lost a hard fought battle to the Friars by a 13-0 score. The heavy up-state team scored early in the game, and Rhode Island came back splendidly in the second period, only to have time peter out with the ball on the P. C. two-yard line and three downs remaining.

Again threatening in the third period, the team was set back by a questionable measurement for a first down, and from that point Providence scored.

Mantenuto makes a short gain through Holy Cross line

HOLY CROSS 32, RHODE ISLAND 0

Facing a heavier and more experienced Holy Cross team in the opening game of the schedule at Fitton Field, Worcester, the team played well defensively and held the opposition scoreless for two periods. At the very beginning Rhode Island fumbled deep in their own territory, and within a few plays Yablonski of the Crusaders drove over for the first touchdown. Shortly thereafter Holy Cross gained another touchdown after a sustained march of 83 yards. Late in the first period a punt was blocked, and Holy Cross gained possession. This time, however, Rhode Island held, only to once more be set at a disadvantage as the result of a feeble punt, and the opposition had 19 points before the initial period was over.

During the second and third periods Rhode Island played well defensively, and Holy Cross never seriously threatened. In the fourth period continued replacements wore down the tired Rhody team, and two more touchdowns were rolled up.

Never showing much offensively, Rhode Island played a courageous game against terrific odds. All players did their best, and the work of Jake Robertshaw as roving center was outstanding.

Start of a reverse play against Maine

MAINE 7, RHODE ISLAND 0

Rhode Island tried to make it three in a row against Maine, but did not get the necessary breaks. In the second quarter Mudge's punt was blocked, and within a few plays Littlehale of Maine scored.

In the third period Bob Mudge twisted and turned his way on a punt return to score after covering 79 yards; this was the most spectacular play of the game. However, Rhode Island's hopes were given a severe jolt when the officials claimed a clipping infraction and the ball was put back on the Maine 29-yard line.

The Rams were easily the better team on the field, showing much more in offensive and defensive gestures. The statistics revealed that Rhody gained more yardage by rushing and scored twice as many first downs.

Outstanding for Rhode Island in the backfield were Bob Mudge and John Mantenuto. Fred McCarthy and Louis D'Iorio showed up well in their line play.

Mudge scores the winning touchdown against Brown

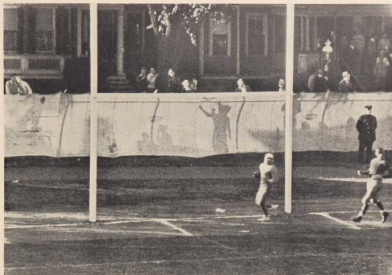

RHODE ISLAND 13, BROWN 7

After 23 years of trying to defeat the Bruin in football, Rhode Island finally came through in a brilliant game that will long live in the memory of the loyal looters who saw the contest. Before the game was three minutes old, Rhody scored as the result of a 94-yard march. Mantenuto took the opening kick-off and returned the ball past mid-field. After Mudge, Messina and Mantenuto alternated carrying to the 3-yard line, Wright plunged over for the first score. On a fake placement and pass from Mantenuto to Messina the extra point was converted.

Brown came back strong, led by Mike Greenberg, and narrowly missed scoring. Mid-way in the second period, the Rams put on a 56-yard scoring march which was featured by a beautiful pass to D'Iorio and the final drive by Bob Mudge.

Late in the third period Brown executed a beautiful lateral play and Elrod scored after a 65-yard run. However, the Bears were held at bay for the remainder of the game. On several occasions Junior Keaney's splendid punts, including a 50-yard boot that went out on the Brown 3-yard line, kept the opposition deep in their own territory.

Every man on the team played an inspired game, but most noticeable was Justin McCarthy, minus headgear, who played the best game of his college career.

Mantenuto's score was later disallowed

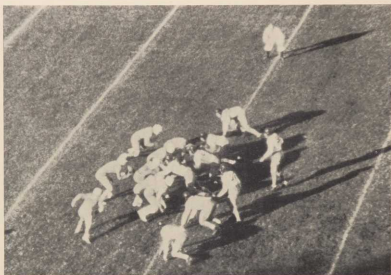

RHODE ISLAND 6, NORTHEASTERN 6

Facing a heavier Northeastern team at Huntington Field in Brookline, the Rams were forced to fight every bit of the way, and made a wonderful showing against a potentially superior team. The Huskies appeared very impressive in the first twenty minutes of the encounter, but Rhode Island staged a surprise offensive to take the lead.

Mantenuto shot a 20-yard pass to Messina that brought the ball to the Northeastern 15-yard line. In a deceptive play that found Fred McCarthy pulling out of the line from his guard position to pass, Lou D'Iorio snared the ball to score standing up.

During the third period Rhode Island had several opportunities to score but did not have the necessary power to put the ball across through the line. With only seconds remaining, Northeastern heaved a long pass that was caught on the Rhody one-yard line, and a touchdown soon resulted. The entire gathering waited breathlessly as the Huskies attempted the conversion; a bad pass from center saved the day for the Rams.

The team played a fine game against a heavier team to satisfy the large delegation of fans who made the trip.

A split second after the ball was snapped

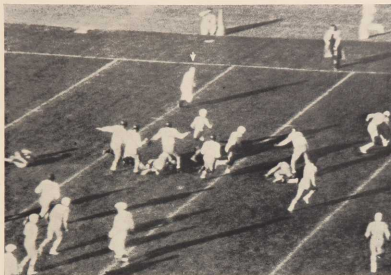

MASSACHUSETTS STATE 7, RHODE ISLAND 6

Against Massachusetts State the team took the opening kick-off and marched for a score in a manner similar to that exhibited in the Brown game. Bob Mudge dove over after a short run.

From then on the teams played an even game, with no serious scoring chances being evidenced. Massachusetts State presented a threat in the person of Stuart, who passed well.

In the third period the Baystaters suddenly awoke and staged an 80-yard march for a touchdown, and then kicked the extra point for the winning margin. This march took only three plays, with Keonig carrying brilliantly for the score.

Bob Mudge went out of the game when he was injured, and thereafter the Rams' offensive was stopped. Robertshaw, Mantenuto, and Jim Souther stood out in their defensive play during the game.

Mudge goes through for a good gain

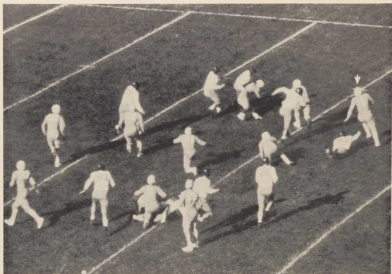

RHODE ISLAND 13, COAST GUARD ACADEMY 7

Starting his second stringers, Coach Keaney found his team in trouble soon after the opening whistle and was forced to rush in the regulars to stop the Cadets on the one-yard line. Play was even thereafter until Jack Land of the Coast Guards dashed off-tackle, without a hand being laid upon him, to score standing up from the 29-yard line.

In the second period Rhody started rolling on a 55-yard march which found Jack Casey going over for the initial score. The attempt for conversion failed and State still trailed the Cadets.

Later in the period the Rams scored after a 66-yard march with Bob Mudge going over for a touchdown. This time the try for the point was good.

The Coast Guards put on a splendid passing attack in the second half and kept the Rams on the defensive most of the time.

Fred McCarthy gains on a guard reverse

RHODE ISLAND 23, WORCESTER TECH 6

The Rams scored in the sixth play of the game against Worcester Tech; Bob Mudge carried the ball on this play. Soon after Tech came back strong and seriously threatened, but the line held for downs. In the second period Justin McCarthy tackled Germaine behind the goal line to score a safety and increase the lead to nine points.

Worcester scored in the third period, culminating a 62-yard drive with Germaine as the scoring ace. Rhode Island once more demonstrated a good attack in the final period to score twice.

The coach had an opportunity to clear the bench when the result of the game seemed sure. Final score: Rhode Island 23, Worcester 6.

Mudge goes around end to score against Connecticut

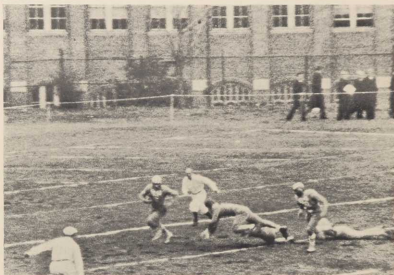

RHODE ISLAND 7, CONNECTICUT 0

Before a banner Homecoming Day throng, Rhode Island won the first leg of the new series trophy by winning in an interesting game 7-0. As in three previous games, the team took the opening kick-off for a tally; Mudge was once more the scorer.

In the second period Rhode Island had another excellent chance to score but muffed the opportunity as a result of a fumble. The teams battled on an even basis for the remainder of the half.

Connecticut staged its most serious threat in the third period in taking the ball from its own 20-yard line to a point deep in Rhode Island territory where it surrendered on downs. Thereafter Rhody kept the game well under control and the eventual outcome was never in doubt.

The team played only straight football, as all deceptive plays were being saved for the Providence game a week later.

Mudge evades a Providence tackler and goes for a good gain

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE 13, RHODE ISLAND 0

In the dedicatory game of the New Hendricken Field, Rhode Island fell before Providence College 13-0. The team fought hard, outscraping the opposition, but as had been the case all season was greatly outweighed.

Soar scored on a 12-yard off-tackle run early in the first period, but the team settled down and played on even terms with the Friar. Late in the second period the Rams had the ball on the P. C. 3-yard line with three downs to go, but the rally was cut short by the timekeeper's watch. The quarterback's judgment was hampered by the clock on the scoreboard which was far from accurate.

Rhode Island played smartly in the third period and constantly threatened. On one occasion a march was halted by a discrepancy in a first-down measurement, and the morale dropped slightly. Taking advantage of this, Providence rushed over another score and decided the outcome convincingly.

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

For the fifth season in a row Coach Tootell's varsity harriers have remained undefeated. Rhode Island would have won the New England title at Boston except for the leg injury of Bill Andrews, who finished thirteenth in 1934 and was handicapped so that he ended in 43rd position in this meet.

Outstanding for the Rams was Bill Eckhart, sophomore runner, who was third in the New England meet and the first Rhode Island man to finish. The first five for Rhody at the meet were: Alex Brown, 10th; Robert Wood, 24th; Bob Childs, 29th; and Knight Fairchild, 42nd. The team score was: Maine 85, Rhode Island 88, New Hampshire 97, Connecticut 103, Massachusetts State 182, Northeastern 183, M. I. T. 196, Bates 227, and Springfield 42nd.

DAVE BURKE

CAPTAIN JACK MARTIN

JUNIOR KEANEY

RHODE ISLAND 63, ARNOLD 26

In the opening game of the schedule the team got away to a fast start and was never headed. Although it was the first game, the passing and shooting were good and the squad gave promise of a successful season.

RHODE ISLAND 44, HARVARD 28

Harvard made its first visit to Kingston in any athletic endeavor and was defeated convincingly. The first half was an even battle with the Rams going out ahead to lead at half-time, 23-17. Only at one time during the initial period was Harvard ahead. Rhode Island practically assured victory by scoring nine consecutive points in the beginning of the second half before Harvard could get started. John Messina, scoring 14 points, led the way for the Rams; Junior Keaney played a splendid defensive game.

RHODE ISLAND 54, BOSTON UNIVERSITY 17

In this game Rhody's superiority was evident from the starting whistle on. Scoring honors were fairly even, and Morris Fabricant provided the offensive show with a total of seventeen points.

RHODE ISLAND 61, NORTHEASTERN 42

The contest started off on even terms; after ten minutes had elapsed the score was 9-8 in favor of Rhode Island. Then occurred the most savage scoring burst exhibited during the season. Fabricant dropped in a shot from side-court, and Martin followed with three consecutive shots in quick order. The scoring continued until Rhody led 23-10. With the reserves playing the last five minutes, the score at half-time was 29-19.

Rhode Island dominated throughout the second half; at no time did the Huskies come within 11 points of the Rams.

JIM WRIGHT

JOHN MESSINA

FRED MCCARTHY

RHODE ISLAND 51, BROWN 34

In an exciting contest Rhode Island defeated Brown for the first time in two years. The first half found play very even, and at the rest period Rhode Island was leading 24-20. In the second half a short Brown rally knotted the score at 26-all. With the score 32-29 in Rhody's favor and with Brown threatening, Junior Keaney called time out in order to get his mates properly organized. From then on the Rams worked very well; Martin scored a goal, Fabricant duplicated, Martin scored three points, and on well-placed passes scored two more baskets. Leading 49-33, the substitutes were allowed to finish the game.

RHODE ISLAND 50, COAST GUARD ACADEMY 33

The Rams started off sluggishly and were fortunate to find themselves on the long end of a 16-11 score at half time. The cadets came back in a startling fashion and were leading 26-20 midway in the second half. Jack Messina scored on two pretty shots, and Martin's basket tied the score soon after. A scoring plunge which was contributed to by Martin, Fabricant, Tashjian and Masterson made the score 43-28, and thereafter the eventual outcome was never in doubt.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE 53, RHODE ISLAND 47

In a game played at the Rhode Island Auditorium in Providence before a crowd of 3,500, notable since a blizzard was in progress during the evening, the Rams played a fighting game against their taller rivals but were forced to yield to the height advantage. The Friars started the scoring, and Rhody came back to take a short-lived 6-5 lead. Play continued on even terms, and P. C. led 28-25 at the half.

The Rams put on a good exhibition during the first part of the second half to take the lead 31 to 30. Thereupon Providence went on a scoring rampage to lead near the end of the period 50-35. Rhode Island fought like mad to creep up to 52-43; but another set-up shot which the taller Providence player converted practically assured the Friars of victory.

JAKE ROBERTSHAW

ED TASHJIAN

MORRIS FABRICANT

RHODE ISLAND 54, WORCESTER TECH 49

Worcester set out quickly and maintained a lead for the greater portion of the game. As the second half got under way Worcester continued its superiority, but the Rams suddenly started working and went ahead 27-26 mid-way in this period. They continued their scoring until they were ahead 54-41.

SPRINGFIELD 52, RHODE ISLAND 27

Playing a team which later turned out to be New England's representative in the Olympic play-offs, Rhode Island played its poorest of the season and did not make a good showing. Playing in a foreign court and immediately after the post-exam lay-off were disadvantages that counted heavily.

RHODE ISLAND 53, MASSACHUSETTS STATE 46

For the first half Massachusetts dominated and went out at half-time leading 22-18. Rhode Island came back strong in the second half and turned back the Statesmen for the remainder of the game. Leading near the end 46-38, Fabricant came through with six consecutive points to clinch the verdict for Rhody.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE 65, RHODE ISLAND 42

In the return engagement with Providence, the Friars played a wide open game to decisively defeat Rhode Island. Once again superior height provided the Ram's undoing. David of Providence made 23 points, which was representative of the up-State five's large margin.

DAVE PARTINGTON

JIM MASTERSON

JIM WIGHTMAN

NEW HAMPSHIRE 44, RHODE ISLAND 43

Leading 39 to 25 with but eight minutes of play remaining, Rhode Island's defense suddenly balked and New Hampshire came from behind in the final seconds to clinch the verdict. The absence of Fabricant, rugged guard who withdrew from college, weakened the team considerably.

RHODE ISLAND 75, CONNECTICUT 32

Rhode Island got off to a flying start and rolled up the largest score in the history of the series. Martin was high man with twenty-five points.

RHODE ISLAND 48, TUFTS 47

Once again Rhode Island piled up a commanding lead, but on this occasion Tufts slowly closed the gap and twenty seconds from the end were one point behind the winners. On this occasion, Jack Martin scored twenty points and surpassed Red Haire's scoring record for a single season.

RHODE ISLAND 54, NORTHEASTERN 41

In a sports carnival contest that was sponsored by the Boston Kiwanis Club at the Boston Arena, Rhode Island battled Northeastern on even terms for three quarters of the game. A scoring splurge by Messina, McCarthy and Tashjian gave the Blue team a good advantage near the finish.

JOE RINOSKI

FRANK RYAN

RHODE ISLAND 52, LOWELL TEXTILE 40

By virtue of Jimmy Wright's holding Lou Athanas, New England high scorer, in check, Rhode Island was able to defeat an excellent Lowell team. Play was even in the beginning, and as usual Rhody put on a scoring attack later in the game.

RHODE ISLAND 56, CONNECTICUT 51

Connecticut started out to avenge the humiliating defeat they received earlier in the season at Kingston, and at one point in the second half they were ahead 41-21. It was not until three minutes from the end that the Rams were able to tie the score. Baskets by Messina, Keaney and Messina again provided the winning margin. This triumph marked the 11th consecutive over the Nutmeggers in the past six years.

BROWN 47, RHODE ISLAND 45

This was even all of the way with Brown exhibiting their best basketball of the season to avenge for a defeat earlier in the season. With two minutes remaining, Rhode Island made a desperate try: Junior Keaney dropped a clean shot from three feet past mid-court; but Ed Tashjian's attempt for the tying marker rolled out of the hoop.

BASKETBALL STATISTICS

The basketball team maintained its "point-a-minute" record during the past season. Since the 1931 season Rhode Island basketball teams have made an average of forty points a game or over.

Year	W	L	Points	Average	Opponents	Average
1931	14	3	674	40	507	29

During Coach Keaney's tenure as basketball mentor his teams have lost more than they have won only once, and since 1926 he has never lost more than one-third of the games in a single season. His record shows that his teams have won seventy percent of their games.

Year	W	L	Year	W	L

In the season just passed J. Francis Martin surpassed the scoring record for a single season and for the four-year total, both records formerly being held by "Red" Haire, '28. Against Brown in 1935 Martin set a record of 30 points for a single game. His four-year record follows:

Year	Games	Goals	Foul Shots	Points
1932-33	15	51	20	122
1933-34	16	91	28	210

BASKETBALL STATISTICS

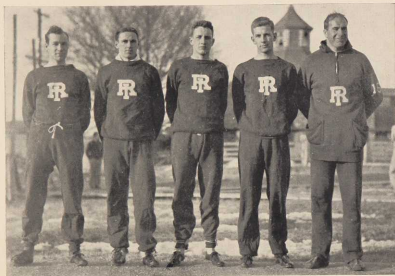

Haire's scoring record remained intact for eight years, Martin being the only player to come within striking distance of it, and he eventually set up a record which seems quite safe, for the present at least. The ten highest scorers in the history of basketball at the College follow:

Player	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	Total

WINTER TRACK

RECORD-BREAKING RELAY QUARTET

Hines, Hanley, Conley, Morrill, Coach Tootell

WINTER TRACK

The winter season saw several brilliant accomplishments by Coach Tootell's proteges. Irving Folwartshny, sophomore weight thrower, gained fame and glory by breaking the world's record and capturing the National A. A. U. title, which Rhode Island has won three years in a row. The relay four broke the college record by several seconds and placed in the I. C.-4A indoor meet.

At the Prout games in Boston, the relay team defeated Maine and M. I. T. in the good time of 3:30.2, which was second fastest of the evening. The "B" quartet also won their race.

At the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden, New York, the team defeated Williams, Middlebury, and Bowdoin in the mile and did their best time of the season, 3:26.8. Amherst got the jump in the match race at the B. A. A. games and won a close race from Rhode Island's hitherto undefeated quartet.

At the National A. A. U. meet in New York, Folwartshny won first with his world's record heave of 58 feet 1½ inches; Dreyer, '35, a graduate student, represented the college under the Union's rules, and placed second with a throw of 57 feet 4½ inches, and Bill Rowe got a fourth with 51 feet 7 inches. The relay team got into the finals, but the crowded track caused a stumble and Rhode Island finished out of the money. The team finished sixth in scoring.

At the N. E. A. A. U. meet in Boston, Folwartshny won the 35-lb. weight throw, Rowe was second and Lepper third. Later, in an open handicap meet, Hank Dreyer uncorked a beautiful heave of 58 feet 4¾ inches to regain his world's record.

At the I. C.-4A meet in New York the relay team placed fifth. Folwartshny was unable to duplicate earlier performances and dropped to 54 feet in the weight throw to finish second; Bill Rowe placed fourth. On the same evening the freshmen placed fourth at the New England championship meet which was being held in Providence. In the 600 metre run Turner was third, Hibbits tied for third in the high jump, and Singen and Hammerlund of Rhode Island tied for third in the pole vault.

1935 VARSITY BASEBALL

The season started off well with a decisive win over the cadets of the United States Coast Guard Academy. For the sixth year in a row a strong University of Maine team was defeated in its annual visit to Kingston. Pratt Institute, Boston University, Upsala, and Connecticut were taken handily in ensuing encounters. The Brown game started off as an easy victory, and finished as a thriller when the Bruins came from behind to tie the score in their half of the seventh. In the next inning Jack Martin came through in an unusual play. With two men out and with a man on first, he hit a boulder to Dye, Brown pitcher, who garnered the ball and cautiously tossed the ball to first. To the surprise of everybody and to Dye's chagrin, Jack was on first base. A barrage of base hits, and the fine pitching of Will d'Entremont saved the day for Rhode Island.

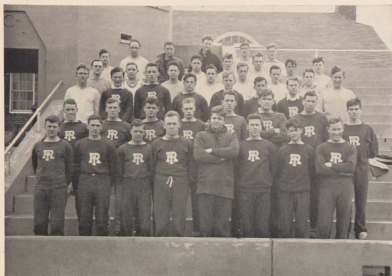

Before a banner crowd, Rhode Island went ahead of Providence College and led at the beginning of the seventh by six to nothing. A series of mishaps and base hits scored four runs, and then a Providence player had his bat hit by a pitch as he turned away from it and it sailed over the heads of the drawn-in infield, to drive in the tying runs. Rhody had two fine chances in subsequent innings, but could not capitalize, and Providence forced across the winning run in the twelfth inning.

Against Holy Cross, the team played well but was handicapped by the lack of good pitching, d'Entremont having worked in two previous games, and went down 19-3.

At the Decoration Day game in Providence, Rhode Island fell in a well played game 6-1. The annual game at Connecticut was rained out.

1935 VARSITY TRACK

1935 saw Rhode Island's most successful year on the cinder path, with four dual meet victories, first place and permanent possession of the Eastern Intercollegiate trophy, and a good showing in the New England meet. Records were broken in eight events, and in one instance the breaker was a freshman.

Bill Dolan, '35, lowered the 100-yard dash time to 9.9, and the 220 time to 21.8 in the dual meet with Connecticut. Andrews chopped the half mile time down to 2 minutes 2.3 seconds; Art Hanley did the quarter in 49.6 seconds; Gerald Mullen made the 220 low hurdle record of 25 seconds flat; Jack Hunt became the New England Intercollegiate javelin champion and set a new college mark of 187 feet 3 inches; and Bill Rowe's fine hammer heave of 173 feet 10 inches was the best in college competition throughout the nation last year. Tallman of the freshmen showed excellent form as he lowered the college record in the 120-yard high hurdles to 15.5.

The most interesting dual meet was with Holy Cross at Kingston. The Crusaders had a powerful array of runners who broke three track records as they won all but one flat race, but Rhode Island's strength in the hurdles, weights and field events gave a winning margin.

The freshmen had a powerful squad which won all of its meets handily. Their record follows:

Freshmen	108	Westerly High School	18
Freshmen	78	Brown, 1938	57
Freshmen	79	Providence Central High . . .	47
Freshmen	117½	Connecticut, 1938	17½
Freshmen	109	Dean Academy	17
Freshmen	100½	Nassau Collegiate	34½

The yearling record breakers were:

Carl Morrill, 880-yard run, 2 minutes 2.9 seconds; Tallman, 120 high hurdles, 15.5 seconds; Dana Conley, 220 low hurdles, 25.8 seconds; Singsen, pole vault, 11 feet 7½ inches; DeLuca, javelin, 169 feet; Irving Folwartshny, 12-lb. shot, 49 feet, 10½ inches; 16-lb. shot, 42 feet 8 inches; 12-lb. hammer, 189 feet 10½ inches; 16-lb. hammer, 146 feet.

With Bill Rowe considered as an excellent prospect to win both the discus and hammer events in the New Englands, Rhode Island was conceded a chance to take the title from the closely bunched field. Unfortunately, the team was forced to compete without his services as the result of an unfortunate accident a few days earlier.

MISS ROCK

Last fall, women's athletics reached great heights at Rhode Island with the success of the field hockey team. This sport was begun here under the direction of Josephine Lees Russell and has steadily progressed until her team was the outstanding team in New England last year. The Rhode Island co-eds were undefeated in competition with teams in this area, but went down to defeat on a three game tour to Pennsylvania, the hot-bed of women's field hockey.

Mrs. Russell was assisted by Miss Helen E. Boardman during the first semester; Vera Rock, '35, former co-ed athlete, was appointed to the position in February when Miss Boardman resigned.

The women's field hockey team realized the most successful season it has experienced since the sport was introduced on the campus. Out of the nine games played, six were won by Rhode Island.

On October nineteenth, the team went to Storrs to play Connecticut State College. In all previous matches, Connecticut had been victorious. The determination and fine teamwork of Rhode Island was too much for the Connecticut girls, the final score being 5-1 in favor of Rhody. Emily Xavier, playing her first game for Rhode Island, scored four of the five goals.

On October twenty-fifth, the team broke another record; New York University was defeated 4-1. The following day the team defeated the Providence Hockey Club. Due to the fact that two members of last year's varsity played with the Providence team, the game was rather close.

Relations were resumed with Pembroke this year. Although the Pembroke team played hard, Rhode Island defeated them easily. When Connecticut played a return game with Rhody, the same score resulted, 5-1.

The next week, the Posse-Nissen team came to the college. On a cold, windy and rainy day, the physical culture school was defeated by one goal. In this close game, Milly Waters scored two of the three goals for Rhode Island.

An undefeated team left for Philadelphia on November twenty-first to play three games. Here in the hockey center of the United States, the Rhode Island team was defeated in all three encounters. The girls were not ashamed of their defeats for the games were hard-fought and the opponents were superior in skill and experience. In the game with Drexel Institute, which was played in six inches of mud, Claire Wordell scored the only goal which was made by Rhode Island on the trip.

In a schedule of fifteen games, seven were won and among eight lost, two were by very close margins. The team faced rugged competition on the New York trip, and made its best showing against Savage, which was the best in the Metropolitan District this year.

FEATURES

GEORGE M. POTTER

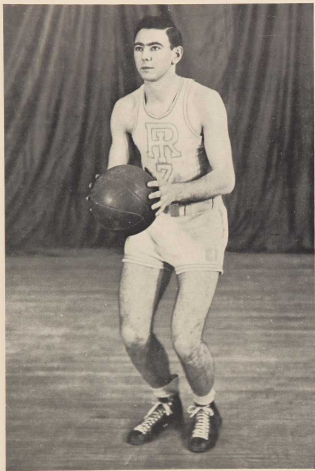

Hizzoner, the Third Mayor of Kingston. George Mundorf Potter, who hails from far away Barcelona, scored a landslide in the election and became the first "foreigner" to govern Kingston.

HELEN BACLAWSKI

Selected at the Mil Ball as the honorary Co-ed Colonel, Miss Baclawski's pulchritude and charm won her the title by an overwhelming majority.

JOHN FRANCIS MARTIN

Rhode Island's most colorful basketball player, who set a new high scoring record this past season. Martin is capable as an outfielder and base-runner, also. He has won All-New England honors since his Sophomore year, and has several Major League Scouts on his trail.

ARTHUR F. HANLEY

A man who is versatile —

Class President four years, Moderator of Sachems, track captain, holder of college 440-yard record, and member of 1936 record-breaking mile relay team.

JOHN J. MANTENUTO

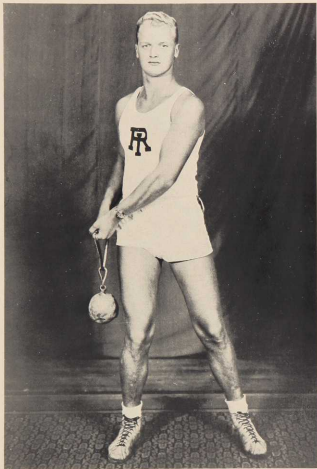

Here is the man who had the honor of captaining the first Rhode Island team to defeat Brown in football. Small and light, his unbounded energy and fight have always carried him through.

WILLIAM J. A. ROWE

Elected to the All-College track team in the hammer throw, and holder of the college record in that event. Rowe has won places in the 35-pound weight throw, and is considered an excellent Olympic prospect.

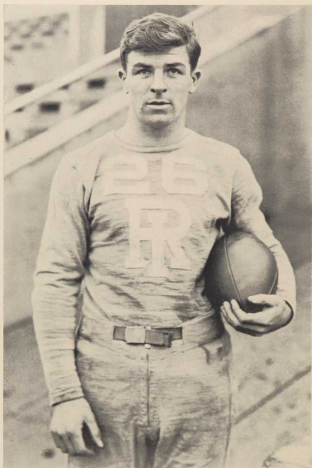

IRVING H. FOLWARTSHNY

"Shorty" attained fame last winter when he sent the 35-pound record over 58 feet to break the world's record, held by Hank Dreyer, '35. Both he and Rowe are possibilities for the 1936 Olympics in the hammer throw.

THE GRIST

ROBERT M. MUDGE

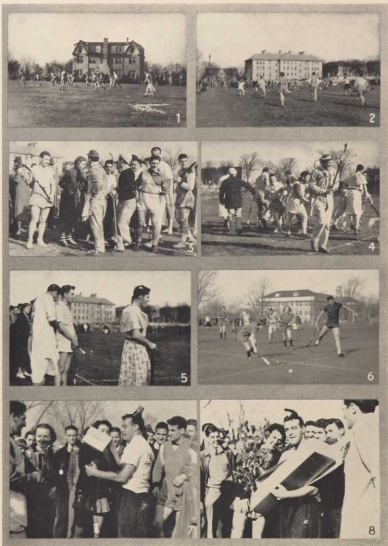

Bobby Mudge gave a marvelous exhibition of football in the Brown game, and although spent from his efforts late in the game, stuck out the last few agonizing minutes. He also excels as a ball player, possessing an excellent batting eye and throwing arm.

1935 COMMENCEMENT SCENES

1—View of exercises. 2—Color guard leading procession. 3—Some notables, including Governor Green, Chief Justice of Supreme Court Flynn, President Bressler, Director of Education Rockett, State Budget Director DelSesto, and State Director of Agriculture Burton Harris, '11. 4—The procession. 5—Harold Q. Moore, who left college in last few weeks of his senior year, is awarded B.S. after waiting eighteen years, shown with family. 6—Class of 1895 returns; lady is Miss Eldred and seated on the right is Howland Burdick of college faculty.

AMAZONS AND FOOTBALL MEN BATTLE!

1—Immediately after opening whistle. 2—Mantenuto loses possession. 3—Jo Russell says that goal is no good, after Coach Keaney came on the field and interfered. 4—Males jubilant after scoring first goal. 5—The subs. 6—Miss Atkinson dives after the ball; the thundering menace at the right is Bob Belola. 7—Miss Webster presents Trumpetto with dead flowers, and Miss Hawcroft hands the cup to Mantenuto. 8—"How affectionate!"

AMAZONS DROP CLOSE GAME TO FOOTBALL MEN

1—Trumpetto on a mad dash. 2—Miss Northup makes a fine defensive move for the lassies. 3—A split second after number 1. 4—Reardon and McCarthy go after the ball. 5—A section of an enthusiastic audience. 6—The good-will snake line before the game. 7—The winners get the honors. 8—Jim Souther shows what the well dressed field hockey player will wear next fall.

THE MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN

THE BAND

Band coming along stands at Connecticut game

No other group offers as much tangible spirit at athletic contests as the Band. Truly they may be called the "push behind the offensive." Under the capable leadership of T. Clarke Brown, these amateur musicians have been a fine marching unit as well as well-sounding unit. The new Busbee worn by the drum major last fall added a note of smartness to the Band.
